

West Linn, OR
(Clackamas Co.)
West Linn Tidings
(Cir. W. 1,750)

MAY 18 2000

Allen's P. C. B Est. 1888

Business Notes

HEIDI BRUNER

Neil Kelly Company has announced the addition of two new design consultants, Heidi Bruner and Melanie McGill. Both are residents of West Linn.

MELANIE MCGILL

nesses, government and human service providers. They honor businesses who make a commitment to family-friendly policies and an investment in children, the future and the work force of tomorrow.

The Class A Willamette 205 Corporate Center at 10th Street and Interstate 205 in West Linn has signed four tenants totaling 19,271 square feet of space, according to developer Mike Kelley.

Noregon Systems Inc., a custom software services and solutions provider, RF Stearns Inc., construction engineers, Raoul G. Calderon, D.M.D., and On-Site Anesthesia Service are the new tenants.

Tualatin Valley Fire and Rescue has received a Quality Seal of Approval award. The recognition, from the Families in Good Company project, was for TVFR's mission to help employees juggle work and family.

Families in Good Company is sponsored by Portland General Electric and Children First of Oregon in collaboration with busi-

Ross Island Earlyrisers Kiwanis Club, a nonprofit organization in West Linn, has received a $500 grant from Portland General Electric's Richard Morrison through the PGE Employee Volunteer Grant program.

Morrison and other employees applied for the grant, which incorporates employee volunteer interests into PGE's philanthropic activities.

The Oregon Education Association (OEA) has honored the Salem Statesman Journal education reporter Dana Haynes with its annual News Media Award.

Haynes, former editor of the West Linn Tidings and the Lake Oswego Review, was recognized for his consistently thorough and thoughtful approach to reporting current issues in education, his balanced tone, forthright style and accuracy of information.