

Deadline for Families in Good Company Awards Applications Due March 30

The Families in Good Company Awards honor businesses that support family-friendly policies through offering such benefits as flexible work hours or assistance with dependent care. They also showcase how work and family responsibilities can be better balanced with innovative policies. Your participation will not only bring recognition to your company's leadership, it will serve as a source of ideas for others.

In addition to the awards, which recognize outstanding commitment, FGC will again consider employers for Quality Seal status - recognition of discernible commitment to family-friendly practices.

Organizations will be evaluated against other organizations of same/similar size. Judging is performed by a panel of work/family professionals including selected members of business and industry, representatives from relevant county and state commissions and human resource associations.

Deadline for applications: March 30, 2001. Applications can be downloaded at www.familiesingoodcompany.org. Winners will be honored at a hosted reception at OMSI's Earth Science Exhibit Hall on May 7, 2001. Call 503-236-9754 for more information.
